

Hypergeometric functions in the $p$ -adic setting

DERMOT MCCARTHY

Texas Tech University

Wednesday, October 29, 2014
Room: MATH 114. Time: 4:00pm.

ABSTRACT. Classical hypergeometric functions appear in many areas of mathematics and possess some interesting properties. In this talk, we will describe recent work on constructing an analogous function in the  $p$ -adic setting. We will discuss this function's application to counting points on algebraic varieties and its relationship with Fourier coefficients of modular forms.